

THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF LEADERSHIP AND SUCCESS

We Build Leaders Who Make a Better World

PRESENTS

In association with

Leveraging Facebook, Twitter and Your Digital Identity in College

Learn the ins and outs of your digital identity,
and get ahead in school and life.

- 70% of employers search the web before hiring
- Students today spend more time on Facebook than in class
- Social sites are bigger and more popular than television

ONLINE 24/7
NOV. 22 - DEC. 6, 2010
WWW.STARLINKTRAINING.ORG

Tom Krieglstein

After starting his first 1.5+ million dollar business in college, Tom Krieglstein was hooked on entrepreneurship. A former "C" student that discovered the positive change made by getting involved, he co-founded Red Rover: a directory that unlocks human potential by helping students build their personal learning network. Krieglstein is known as a social media and networking expert, and works with hundreds of colleges and universities to bring students together across the United States.

Campus Information: