

Available on DVD & Internet

Presents:

Strategies for Dealing with Different Learning Preferences

More than ever faculty are faced with a diversity of students in their classrooms. These students come with a variety of learning styles/preferences and teachers need to provide for these differences in their teaching. Our award-winning educators will present strategies to assist the classroom teacher in promoting learning and student retention.

Presenters:

Dr. Derek Bruff
Director of the
Vanderbilt University
Center for Teaching

Dr. Jeannie Loeb
Director for Undergraduate Research in Psychology
University of North Carolina,
Chapel Hill

Dr. Richard Felder
Hoechst Celanese Professor
Emeritus at North
Carolina State University

Dr. Kurt Fischer
Professor and Director of Mind, Brain, and Education
Program at Harvard
Graduate School of Education

Dr. Todd Zakrajsek
Director of International
Teaching Learning Cooperative

Campus Information

Online 24/7
Apr. 30 - May 14, 2012
www.starlinktraining.org