

with Joe Martin, Ed.D.

Author, speaker, consultant and founder of Real World University

Waking the Dead:

Living with Purpose, Passion and Power

Via the Internet and satellite

Webcast for a week after the broadcast

1. If you don't find and live your purpose (in life), you will spend the rest of your life (literally) paying to watch others live theirs.
2. The purpose of life is to have a life with a purpose.
3. If you're not living your purpose, then you're basically just waiting to die.
4. The purpose journey is simply:
 - A. Identifying your gift (i.e., your unique talents, skills, and abilities).
 - B. Accepting that gift (i.e., believing you have the gift).
 - C. Determining who needs your gift the most (and be specific).
 - D. Giving your gift away in as many creative ways as you possibly can (to that WHO). And if you're fortunate enough, you'll get paid to give it away.
5. You know your life is on purpose, when the thing you do (with your gift) not only brings you joy, but at the same time, brings joy to other people.

Campus Information

February 16, 2007
1:30 - 2:30 PM CT

